The Battle of Armageddon

THE AUTHOR'S FOREWORD

THE FIRST EDITION of this Volume was published in 1897. It relates to the closing epoch of this Gospel Age, the overlapping between it and the New Dispensation—a period which brings to the world wonderful blessings, which in turn, because of unpreparedness of heart, more and more come causes of friction, discontent, trouble. If the blessing of the last 43 years were to continue at the present rate and the very purpose of God in the establishment of His Kingdom and the blessing of mankind frustrated, God permits the Millennium to be gradually destroyed. As man gradually destroys the Kingdom, they destroy the blessing of mankind.

A topographical map of the United States showing the route of the Transcontinental Railroad. The route is depicted as a thick, black, dashed line with white circular markers at key locations. The line starts at Sacramento on the West Coast, crosses the Sierra Nevada mountains, and ends at Promontory Point in the Rocky Mountains. From Promontory Point, the route continues eastward to Omaha, where it branches out into a network of lines extending across the eastern United States. The map uses color to represent elevation, with brown and tan for highlands and green for lower elevations. State boundaries are shown as thin white lines.

candidate of the Whigs for United States Senator before the Legislature chosen that year; but the Democracy being in the majority, Lincoln was again defeated and Judge Trumbull, the Democratic candidate, elected. In 1856 Mr. Lincoln's name headed the Frémont electoral ticket in Illinois. In 1858 it was the desire of the Illinois Re-ing as an especial reason for his position that it deprives the negro of the rights of that clause in the Constitution of the United States which guarantees to the citizens of each State all the rights, privileges, and immunities of the several States.

In motion he has a great deal of the elasticity and awkwardness which indicate the rough training of his early life, and his conversation savors strongly of Western idioms and pronunciation. BRETTON WOODS MONETARY CONFERENCE

In 1944 the United States government chose the Mount Washington Hotel as the site for a gathering of representatives from 44 countries. This was to be the famed Bretton Woods Monetary Conference. The Conference established the World Bank, set the gold standard at $35.00 an ounce, and chose the American dollar as the backbone of international exchange. The meeting provided the world with a badly needed post war currency stability.
